A VORNADO PROPERTY

Zerolandfill Chicago is partnering with theMART for the tenth year in a row! This volunteer-run organization collects expired materials samples from design firms and showrooms, diverts them from the landfill, and makes them available for free to students, educators, and community artisans.

Each spring and fall, Zerolandfill collects clean intact samples size 2"x 2" or larger of nearly any non-hazardous material including but not limited to: carpet tiles, 3-ring binders, laminate, vinyl, rubber' fabric, tile, wallcovering, glass, wood, metal, and more! We host an upcycling event where community members can gather these free materials and get creative.

It's time to clean out your materials library! Sort through your expired samples and drop them off at the designated collection points on each floor of theMART. Please keep in mind that the chance of item reuse is higher if they are sorted and intact. For that reason, we ask that you please group materials into categories, rather than combining everything in one box. We also appreciate closed boxes or bags of materials, rather than loose collections. Collection points on floors: 6 East, 10 East, 11 East, 14 East & 14 West, 15 East & 15 West, 16 West.

Note: This collection location is open to Mart tenants only.
